Nothing brightens up a room or someone's day like a beautiful bouquet. But some flowers are downright dangerous for our animal companions. Many varieties of lilies are highly poisonous to cats, for example, and tulips can also be toxic. And while their flowers may be fine, rose thorns could cause injury to curious noses, eyes, mouths, and paws.

ASPCA Animal Poison Control Center and 1-800-FLOWERS.com have worked together to offer pet friendly selections. And when you use promotion code ASPCA when ordering, 1-800-FLOWERS.com will donate 10% of the new proceeds from your purchase to ASPCA.

P.S. Please note that while the flowers selected are considered to be nontoxic, it is important to keep in mind that even "safe" plants can produce minor stomach upset if ingested.
